SIERRA MADRE NEWS

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1944

SIERRA MADRE, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

VOLUME NO. 38—NO. 20

"A" AND "B" GRADE DISTINCTIONS AND MIDSUMMER GRADUATIONS DISCONTINUED AT SCHOOL

Changes Announced to Conform With Practice
Throughout L. A. County

There will be no more midsommer graduations at the Sierra Madre grammar school. And there will be no more "A" and "B" distinctions in the school grades.

In line with the general practice of Los Angeles County schools, and after the past four years' attempt at effecting the change in the Sierra Madre school system, Superintendent Kornsmeier made this announcement on Tuesday, February 1:

"Beginning with the fall term of 1944, grades in the Sierra Madre school will be indicated, no longer as 'A' and 'B' divisions, but Grade 1, 2, 3, etc."

"The reason for this final decision," he continued, "is first, to raise the general scholastic standard of the grade. There is a tendency when an 'A' or 'B' group are in one room, as is likely to occur in the primary grades, particularly for the standard to become more allied to the 'B' group."

"More progress obviously will be made in a grade when no limiting objectives are present in any one group. Therefore, also, no students will be accepted in a heretofore 'A' group in mid-term."

"Important now, and at any time, in our school, is time economy in needless preparation of a graduating group in mid-term. Saving of time means saving of expenses as well."

F. Smiths in Old Gerald Smith Home

A former home of Gerald Smith, former Sierra Madre school superintendent, is now owned by another Smith family, and Mrs. Charles F. Smith, resident of Temple Street, has purchased the property at auction from Edward Grinnell, Jr., of Compton. The property includes daughters nine, age 5, and Joan, age 3. Mrs. Smith is a registered nurse and is associated with the Union Pacific.

The Gerald Smiths are now in La Jolla, where Mrs. Smith is superintendent.

Madrean is Elected by Nation's Match Men

Dr. E. Wright, former Brean and son of Mrs. Wright, former postmaster, was elected vice-president of the American National Association at its annual convention last week. He was elected chairman of the organization's legislative committee.

He has been a member several years, and which is considered its most important committee.

Dr. Wright, who was raised in a family of physicians, and whose family spans the generations in Sierra Madre, is owner of the 71 Ranch at Nevada, one of the largest ranches west of the Rockies.

Commenting on Mr. Wright's election the Elko Press says "it is a distinct honor for any man, but particularly for a man from Nevada, which is rarely recognized for such an important, nationwide position." It also prophesies his election as association president within the next year or two.

He was first president of the Nevada Cattle Association, serving in that capacity for seven years.

He was also president of the Nevada Cattle Association, serving in that capacity for seven years.

To the People of this Community

KILL OR BE KILLED
United States Marines paid the stiffest price in human life per square yard for the capture of Tarawa, with Pacific outposts.

It was kill or be killed. Your boys did not flinch when they ran into the deadliest fire power along the beaches of this important island stronghold.

This assault, bloody and costly, is one of the many which must be made before Tokyo and Berlin are pounded into dust and ashes.

What are you doing to back up the boys? Are you the boys from this very community, perhaps from your very home. Any home in your neighborhood which today does not display the Treasury's red, white and blue 4th War Loan Shield proclaiming "We bought Extra War Bonds" is not backing the attack.

Every Extra War Bond you buy becomes a direct fighter against Japan and Germany. If you could but see one man die on the battlefield, you would not count the cost of your slight sacrifices to buy Extra War Bonds to make each succeeding assault less costly in the lives of our boys.

You can't afford NOT to buy Extra Bonds in the 4th War Loan if you would help these boys.

THE EDITOR.

Joe Swanson Named on Water Board

At a meeting of representatives of the cities and water users named as defendants in Pasadena's suit against 23 municipalities to restrict the use of water from the Raymond underground basin of the San Gabriel Valley, a committee was appointed to interview candidates for the position of water master, a position created in an agreement that would end the suit. The water master will supervise distribution of the underground supply after his appointment and the settlement agreement have been approved. The water master's office will be located in Pasadena.

The meeting was notified that Joseph Swanson, Sierra Madre water superintendent, had been selected to represent municipalities in the eastern unit of the water basin on an advisory board to work with the water master. Arcadia has named its water superintendent to act in this capacity during the first year the settlement agreement is in force.

CENSUS WILL DECIDE HOW MUCH FOOD AND OTHER SUPPLIES THIS AREA WILL BE ALLOTTED

Big Force of Enumerators Being Recruited Now to Hurry Job Through

A staff of several hundred enumerators is being recruited through the U. S. Employment Service to take the special war-time census of Los Angeles and Orange counties as proposed by the President's Committee for Congested Production Areas. The canvass will be under the direction of E. B. Lewis, Census Bureau field representative, whose headquarters will be in room 506, at 714 S. Hill st., Los Angeles.

The census will not embody a complete enumeration of all individuals. Instead, a scientific sample of the population will be taken under methods developed by the Census Bureau. This sampling method, based upon established controls derived from a complete listing of all dwelling units, has been approved as the most economical means of obtaining data necessary to determine the growth in the population of the Los Angeles area since the last complete census in 1940.

Immediately after a sufficient staff has been recruited and trained, crews of enumerators will be sent out to list all dwelling places in the two counties. From these lists, experts of the Census Bureau will then select a basic sample of dwelling units whose inhabitants are to be enumerated. These units will be chosen from the complete lists of dwelling places at designated intervals. The enumerators will then visit each of the selected dwelling units to obtain the number, age, sex, and other characteristics, including employment and marital status, of the residents.

The data will be tabulated to yield the basic statistical facts relative to the residents of the dwelling places included in the sample.

Only statistics relating to the civilian population will be published. The statistics relating to the military population, crews of vessels, and the total population including the military will not be

Memorial Service Monday for Lieut. Aubrey C. Young

A choral requiem memorial service will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning, February 7, at the Church of the Ascension for Lieut. Aubrey C. Young Jr., who was killed in action. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth L. Farrow will sing Merbecke's Communion Service. The pastor, Rev. John S. Neal, will be the celebrant. Representatives of the patriotic organizations will be present.

Lieut. Young was a member of the Episcopal Church and lost his life in action on the European front during the air attack on Schweinfurt, Germany, when 50 Flying Fortresses were shot out of the air. Immediately after the raid he was reported missing in action and it was believed he had been taken prisoner by the enemy. Recently the War Department announced officially that he had been killed.

New Toyloan Library is Operating

Toyloan library, sponsored by the Sierra Madre Junior Woman's Club, was very successfully launched Saturday afternoon.

Hundreds of Sierra Madre children and adults were on hand long before the doors were opened. Mrs. Merrihew, Toyloan, explained how Toyloan operated and emphasized the fact that there will be no charges of any kind connected with the library.

After viewing the library the children were more certain than ever that they would be on hand Tuesday, when they could borrow several toys each.

Tuesday forenoon, Mrs. Margaret Fling, Los Angeles director of Toyloan, started training several Junior members who desired Toyloan training. Later they attended the Kiwanis luncheon, where Mrs. Fling explained the working of Toyloans. Those attending, besides Mrs. Fling, were Mrs. Althea Butler, president of the Juniors; Mrs. Rosalie Goodwin, Junior advisor; Ruth Miles, American citizenship chairman of the Juniors; Jean Edwards, philanthropy chairman; Mrs. Ann Hutchinson, vice-president, and Mrs. Harold Drury, publicity chairman.

The three Sierra Madre Boy Scout troops will hold a Court of Honor Monday, February 7, at 8 p.m. at the Congregational Church. As this is an event the boys always eagerly look forward to, parents and friends are urged to attend.

No More Confusion Over Lost Checks in Sierra Madre

Loss of a U. S. mail sack containing hundreds of checks deposited by Sierra Madreans for collection, which resulted in endless confusion and annoyance to local depositors, is responsible for the addition of a Recordak to the equipment of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank. It will photograph both sides of all negotiable paper and documents deposited with the bank and loss of the originals will cause no inconvenience.

Mystery of the missing mail sack has never been solved. It has been tracked from the post-office to the time it was loaded on the train bound for the Los Angeles postoffice, where it apparently never arrived.

Miraculous

Six-year-old Deborah Detrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dedrick Jr. of 734 Fairview ave., miraculously escaped serious injury when she tumbled out of her aunt's car into Foothill Blvd. as the car was moving along at 30 miles an hour Friday afternoon. The child had accidentally opened the car door and rolled out. She was rushed to St. Luke's Hospital where X-ray pictures showed that while badly bruised, she had suffered no serious injuries.

With Sierra Madre

En route home on furlough after two years aboard a carrier in the North Atlantic, Radio Technician 1/c David R. Sheriff saw a little excitement near the British Isles on New Year's eve as a result of which he received a very flattering letter of commendation from the captain of his ship. He and a shipmate had developed a radio electronic warning device that undoubtedly saved the lives of several flyers of their outfit when their plane was shot down during a brush with a pack of Nazi subs. Other warning devices failed when the plane fell into the sea. The one invented by Sheriff and his pal gave the alarm and located the injured

Over Half of Loan Quota Subscribed

Block Mothers Now Center
War Bond Campaign on Individual Purchasers

More than 65 per cent of Sierra Madre's Fourth War Loan quota had been subscribed Tuesday morning when the Block Mothers organization of the Civilian Defense Corps began its door-to-door canvass to see that the largest possible number of individuals are given an opportunity to be listed among War Bond subscribers. At noon yesterday the Block Mothers reported they were having better than expected success and anticipated the quota of $100,000 set for investments by individuals would be met before the campaign closes on February 15.

Members of the local War Bond committee expected no trouble whatever in securing the $25,000 to be raised by subscriptions from corporations. Directors of the Pasadena school district, of which Sierra Madre is a part, have decided to make another substantial investment in War Bonds and to divide the district's subscriptions among the various communities constituting the district. Inquiries made by the directors of the local committee indicated that their Sierra Madre subscription would be $12,500, or half of the corporate allotment. Another $1000 bond has been purchased by the City of Sierra Madre.

There will be subscriptions from the Edison Co., the California Water and Telephone Co., the Southern Counties Gas Co., and it is believed this $25,000 corporate subscription is as good as raised now.

Ministers Will Be Guests of Woman's Club on Wednesday

Dr. Robert H. Bitzer, member of the Hollywood Institute of Religion, Science will be the guest speaker at the Woman's Club luncheon on Wednesday, February 9, at 11:30 a.m.

Those who have heard Dr. Bitzer's radio talks or who have had the pleasure of hearing him at the Roosevelt Hotel or at the Institute headquarters in Hollywood, are aware of the treat in store for them next week.

Because of the nature of his subject and the prominence of the speaker, invitations have been issued to the local clergy to be guests of the club.

Church Society to Present Exhibit of Old Dishes

The Woman's Society of the Congregational Church is making plans for an exhibit of old dishes and a silver tea to be held at 2 o'clock Friday, February 18. This will be a community affair as was the Wedgwood exhibit of a year ago, and all Sierra Madre friends are invited to submit entries.

Carnival to Raise Mercy Ship Fund

Back the attack with a Mercy Ship!

That's what the carnival to be held in the school cafeteria after school, Wednesday, February 9 is all about. Every boy and girl and grown-up, too, who spend their pennies to play games and partake of home-prepared refreshments will really become a part of that eventual Mercy ship which the national organization of Camp Fire Girls aims to buy with 4F War Bonds.

A Mercy shop—better understood as an ambulance plane, carrying 20 beds, with a staff nurse, sergeant and surgeon, if necessary, costs $110,000—and that's what lots of pennies can buy if all the carnivals and planned drives of Camp Fire are as successful as the Sierra Madre Carnival is hoping to be.

Ten thousand wounded men have been evacuated from Africa by ambulance plane, sometimes as many as 400 in a day. In one instance, wounded were delivered by plane to a hospital that would otherwise have taken 20 days.

Prizes are to be awarded the top winners in the various games, and every effort is being made to assure everyone a gay Carnival time.

Graduation
Exercises
Colorful

The mid-term graduates of the Sierra Madre City School will cherish the memory of their graduation exercises held in the school auditorium on Friday afternoon. The program highlighting "The Documents of Liberty" was colorful and well presented by the graduates.

Beginning with the Assembly March and the Star Spangled Banner, played by the orchestra, followed by a Peace Hymn sung by the graduates, the program proceeded with the turning of pages of a large book made by the students.

Each graduate introduced briefly but reverently these "documents," one by one, turning "a page of history" in the book: "The Heritage of the Ages," "The Bible," "Magna Charta," "Model Parliament," "Mayflower Compact," "Petition of Right," "Bill of Rights," "Declaration of Independence" and "The Constitution."

The graduates recited in unison "The Preamble to the Constitution." Three more large pages unfolded the "Declaration of the Rights of Man," "American Bill of Rights," and the "Amendments."

Supt. Henry Korsemer symbolically cemented all the documents together into a giant foundation of liberty and reminded the graduates and the children in the audience of their great responsibility to the world of the future. "You are building for the ages," he said, and "those before you have made great sacrifices to prepare the way for you."

The patriotic musical numbers were admirably done, graduates and audience putting much feeling into them. Having been superintendent of the school only since September, 1943, Mr. Korsemer said he was proud of the graduating class and felt sure it came up to the standard of any of its predecessors.

Local Girls Helped Make Xmas Merry
for British Kids

A thousand lean and ragged English orphans had a marvelous Christmas... and part of it was due to the Misses Dorothy and Daphne Alley of 360 E. Sierra Madre blvd., Sierra Madre, who were among the hundreds who sent gifts to blitzed British kids.

As early as last July, 180 men in an VIII Air Force Service Command Signal Company started sending V-mail letters to the folks back home, asking for candy and gifts for English orphans. When the holidays came, they had a whole warehouse full of candy, dolls, games; gifts of every description from one-made toys to expensive clothing. "We want to thank every kind-hearted American who helped us out," explained Lt. Harry B. Raff, commanding officer of the Signal Company "somewhere in England." "We were amazed at the avalanche of gifts that poured in."

The Signal Company's party was one of many given by the VIII Air Force Service Command.

Patricia Thomas, 11-year-old daughter of Mrs. Irene Thomas of 83 Sierra Madre blvd., attending St. Rita's school, has set an example for grown-ups as well as children. Having received a $10 Christmas present from an uncle and others, totaling $7 from friends, Patricia planned to purchase her Girl Scout uniform. But she wanted more, at this time, to have a part in "backing the attack." So she bought a war bond.

Not a Chance

To deduct or not to deduct: that is the question, as Shakespeare might put it. According to the latest ruling there's not a chance of deducting that California State gasoline tax from your federal income tax statement. That goes for federal gasoline and oil taxes, too. Technical basis for this most recent ruling is that these taxes are imposed upon the distributor or manufacturer. The taxes are not on the consumer, it is claimed.

Keep 'em flying...with safety!

Good kite flyers heed the four safety rules below. They know that failure to observe these rules can result in injury to themselves and to power lines which carry electricity needed for war production. It's more fun to play safe when you fly your kites! Learn and follow these rules:

1. Fly kites in an open field, away from power lines and other overhead obstructions.
2. Never use wire, tinsel or metallic string.
3. Be sure the string is perfectly dry.
4. If the kite catches in a power line, let go immediately. Don't pull! Phone the company owning the line, and a lineman will come to get your kite for you.

First Appearance of Ration Tokens
Set for Feb. 27

Tokens—the small change of the ration business—will begin flowing into circulation throughout the country February 27. Slightly smaller than a dime, they will be worth one point each. Retailers for ration stamps—red tokens being used in meat purchases, and blue for processed foods. The reason for the tokens, it appears, is to simplify the ration system, but that's a tender point we won't go into, except to report that OPA estimates with the use of tokens Ration Book Four will last about two years. And at least three books would be required during this period without tokens, according to the OPA communiques.

Also, from February 27 on, ration stamps—each with a 10-point value regardless of the number appearing on the coupon—will be validated on an across-the-book basis instead of on an up-and-down basis as at present. Three meat stamps, worth a total of 30 points, will become valid every two weeks, with the first two series of six stamps remaining valid until May 20. Tokens, given as change, will have no expiration dates.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

There were no vacant chairs at the tables set for the firemen at Orme's Inn when the O.F.s fed the Young Fellows. And there was no chicken left for anyone to take home for their dogs and cats. To make certain that the bowling team was served before leaving for action, Krinke had his men at the table early in the evening. And to be sure that they were well fed, he filled each bowler's plate with four wings. Perhaps that is why they flew in and brought home four points.

Last week's drill brought out the O.C.D. equipment. It is proving of great value and the men are becoming well acquainted with the workings of it. The pumps supplied with this equipment are much needed and are an excellent asset to the fire department. Wish that we could keep em.

The rains have lessened the fire hazard to a great extent, but we cannot let down. The cool weather brings with it the indoor hazard, with the heating appliances. Once more and again, look out for that loose or leaky hose attachment! If it is worn to a state where it will not stay tight, better get a new one or a different kind of connection.

The firemen are supporting the Fourth War Loan to a man, not only by buying all that they can, but by urging others to do the same. Some of us have sons and others have brothers and friends that they want to have the best there is to fight with.

Every patriotic home in America will want to put up this emblem!

THIS emblem is a symbol of your patriotism. It tells the world that you have done your full share in the 4th War Loan. Every true American will be proud to display it at home.

Our valiant fighting men... soldiers, sailors and marines... on every far-flung battlefield are on the attack... forging ahead steadily, relentlessly. Nothing on earth can stop them... IF WE BACK THEM UP!

Backing them up means throwing every dollar we can possibly spare into the fight right now... even if it takes sacrifice on our part.

That's the purpose of this 4th War Loan Drive.

To earn the right to display the 4th War Loan Emblem you must invest in at least one EXTRA hundred dollar Bond (at a cost of only $75)... over and above your regular War Bond subscription. But don't stop with one! Invest in all the extra Bonds you think you can afford... then invest in some more!

Remember, every dollar you put into War Bonds does double duty. It helps to win the war... and at the same time it insures your own financial security.

Here, too, is a chance to help your company meet its quota in this 4th War Loan.

Maybe this will mean sacrifice on your part. Maybe it will mean doing without something you want. But don't forget... while you are only lending a few spare dollars... thousands of our gallant fighting men are giving their lives for you! Show that you're backing them up 100%. Invest in extra War Bonds to the limit of your ability. And display the 4th War Loan Emblem at home!

What is "Your" Share?

We hear much these days about "doing our share." We know that if each one does his share, victory will hasten our way and the lives of many of our boys will be saved.

But in hearing so often about doing our share we may lose its real significance. Have you ever asked yourself the question: What is my share? Is it to buy a certain amount of War Bonds? Or is it to give a certain amount of time to some patriotic purpose?

Do you weigh your time, money and effort on a mental scale and stop giving these toward the war effort the moment you have reached your "share"? Do you watch what other people do—or do not do—and then excuse yourself because you're doing "as much as they are"—which may be next to nothing? Do you say, "I'd like to do my share but—" and then follow with what seem very good reasons to you? Wars are not won on "but." "Do" is the word of victory.

As a housewife, do you save and sell your waste kitchen bits to your butcher, or do you say, "I ought to do that," and then don't? As a worker, do you take an extra day off now and then because "it doesn't make any difference"? Do you avoid using the telephone during the busy hours when servicemen and women are trying to get calls through to home? Do you travel only when absolutely necessary?

Your share is to do your very best—and nothing short of that is your share.

Jumbled Intricacy

Painfully evident to about 50 million Americans is the jumbled intricacy of the income tax regulations as they now stand on the Nation's law books.

Before March 15 millions of dollars will be spent by disgruntled taxpayers who took one puzzled look at their blanks received through the U. S. mail, threw up their hands and called in professional auditors.

Despite radio programs and prepared statements from the tax collector's office pointing out how amusingly simple the computations are, we have yet to meet a single taxpayer who agrees with these experts. The forms are as lengthy as the Burma Road, as fraught with obstacles on the straight stretch and danger on the curves.

Everybody in Washington admits something must be done about it, but the cures so far offered look almost as forbidding as the malady itself. Merging several separate taxes into one over-all rate seems an obvious necessity. But from there on the foremost prescription reads like this: "Then reduce the amount of that rate against a new taxable income to be arrived at by deducting from gross income those items of expense incurred in earning the income, plus family status exemptions—and nothing else."

That is reminiscent of the writer who struggled for seven days to portray a simple love scene—and was amazed to find it still sounded labored. It is apparent at this juncture that our congressmen are straining their every capacity to simplify the tax maze. But at the present rate there is only one thing of which the taxpayer can feel very sure: relief is not in sight. And it will not come in time to be of any help in making the tax return due in March.

Until our elected representatives can find time to reason their way through new income tax laws the average intelligent man and woman can understand the best procedure it seems to be to get out a stack of scratch pads and all the pencils with erasers in the house, plan several evenings at home—and then phone your favorite bookkeeper, turn the whole confusing business over to him with the rash, wild hope that he can riddle it out.

Here
and There

by Dean A. G. H. Bode

THIS week I am beginning a review of a remarkable poem by Robert Bridges. The poem is called "The Testament of Beauty." Bridges was an Oxford scholar, a doctor of medicine, a fine musician, playing in a string quartet, a writer and translator of hymns, and a poet who was made poet-laureate. The poem is philosophical, on the role of beauty from the beginning of history. One can picture Bridges, the friend of dons and wardens and scholars, coming late in life, as he says, to a reawakening, as when one looks from a hill-top and sees the far-stretching plain, his own home maybe, far off, small as a faded thought, all the past vivid and significant that had been dormant or dead. He thinks, with Plato, that simple, primitive man, emerging from the primeval forest, had his mind awakened by seeing and hearing beauty, such as the beauty of the songs of birds, and was led upward in spirit through knowledge and reason to beauty of conduct and wisdom. Or, in the words of Bridges: "Nature, as Plato saith, teacheth man by beauty And by the lure of sense, leadeth him ever upward To heavenly things."

THESE are the key lines and the subject of the whole poem. He gives a definition of beauty, a paraphrase of Plato:

"Beauty is the highest of all those occult influences. The quality of appearances that through the sense Wakeneth spiritual emotion in the heart of man. And art, as it createth new forms of beauty, Awakeneth new ideas that advance the spirit In the life of reason, to the wisdom of God." The poem is a long development of this statement. I might condense the "argument" thus: The sights and sounds of nature, through the senses, awaken "spiritual emotion" (which might mean pleasure or delight to the mind).

Reasoning comes after emotion. Then knowledge; then what he calls "Selfhood" (perhaps personality). Then comes love, including chivalry, leading on to poetry and the beautiful in art. Finally comes Ethic, including Duty, ending in Friendship and love and happiness, the beautiful in conduct, and wisdom. "Verily by Beauty it is," says Bridges, "that we come at Wisdom."

HE writes in what are called "Alexandrine," unusual lines of eleven syllables, and gives us the matured thought of a scholar, laying under contribution his knowledge of ancient history, ancient and modern thought, Plato and Aristotle, Latin and Greek classics, the Bible, writing sometimes lines and half lines in the original Latin, French, and Greek, illustrating with marvelous descriptions of nature and character, and all the while naturally and unaffectedly a cultivated Christian gentleman.

IT is good to get a peep into the mind of a scholar and thinker. He says: "The secret of a poem lieth in the intimate echo of the poet's life." Sitting in his study in Oxford, amid shelves lined with the books he has read in the course of his classical education, and remembering the birds he has heard time and time again through the garden gates of Trinity College, or in the hours he spent reclining on the hill among the prodigal gay blossoms under the blue sky and in the soft air, and on unknown flower-spread lawns, he composes the lines:

"In the blithe hour of April dawn,
Hearing the ravishing music
That the small birds make in the woodland,
Rapturously heralding the break of day
When the first lark on high hath warned
The vigilant robin already of the Sun's approach,
And he on slender pipe calleth the nesting tribes
To awake and fill and thrill their myriad warbling throats."

Praising life's God, until the blissful revel grew
In wild profusion unfeigned, to such a hymn as man
Hath never in temple or grove poured to the Lord of heaven."

THEN Bridges naturally thinks of the birds in the chorus of the Greek play of Sophocles, where the ancient poet, 400 years B. C., writes of the beauty of the song of the nightingales in the woods of Colonus. And on a study shelf is a volume of the poet Keats containing the ode to a nightingale. These poets, separated in time by over 20 centuries, bring to his mind a thought of the continuous beauty of birds' songs handed on from singer to singer for thousands of years, and the everlasting instinctive urge to create beauty in song. It must be the same instinctive urge that moved the great musicians to create their works of beauty. And this is the way he puts it:

"Now since the thoughtless birds not only act and enjoy
This music, but to their offspring teach it with care,
Handling on these small folk songs from father to son
In such faithful tradition that they are familiar
Unchanging to the changing traditions of men,
And year by year, listening to himself, the nightingale
Practiseth every phrase of his espousal lay
With the same notes that woke poetic eloquence Alike in Sophocles and the sick heart of Keats.
See then how deeply seated is the urge whereto
Bach and Mozart obeyed, or those other minstrels
Who pioneered for us on the marches of heaven
And paid no heed to wars that swept the world around
Nor in their homes were more troubled by cannon roar
Than late the small birds were that nested and carolled
Upon the devastated battlefields of France.
Birds are of all animals the nearest to men,
For that they take delight in both music and dance,
And gracefully schooling leisure to enliven life
Were the earlier artists."

THE urge to beauty of song in birds is instinctive. We often speak of the marvels of instinct. But instinct in the animal world, which far outnumbers the species of man and is wholly ruled by instinct, is not the marvel. We human beings are the exception and the marvel, because we use reason in our expression by sound and invention in the creation of beauty and culture. Reasoning comes after. Beauty comes first, awakening spiritual emotion. There is a difference between spiritual emotion and abstract intelligence. Bridges says men have tried to bridge the gap, from devout Pythagoras to the last psychologist of Nancy or Vienna, meaning, no doubt, Coue and Freud and their like.

If a scientific mind should ask the question, "Is this beauty of song just light disturbance of atoms of air?" Bridges would reply:

"Wisdom will repudiate thee if thou think to enquire
Why things are as they are, or whence they came; thy task
Is first to learn what is, and in pursuant knowledge
Pure intellect will find pure pleasure and the only ground
For a philosophy conformable to truth.
Man's happiness, his flaunting honey'd flower of soul
Is his loving response to the wealth of nature.
Beauty is the prime motive of all his excellence,
His aim and peaceful purpose.
Since there is beauty in nature, mankind's love of life
Apart from love of beauty is a tale of no count,
And though he lingered long in his forest of fear
The vision of beauty awaited him, and step by step
Led him in joy of spirit to full fruition."

Next week we will try to follow further the thought of Bridges in "The Testament of Beauty."

San Francisco's new Mayor Roger Lapham plans a diligent campaign to cultivate friends for the bay city in farming areas and the back country—by giving them practical aid in meeting post-war problems. This bid for their friendship . . . and their business . . . might well serve as an example for Southland business and political leaders.

With spring just around the corner, the political rumor garden is sprouting with both weeds and flowers. Latest rumor to reach the flowering stage is that U. S. Senator Sheridan Downey (the chap with so many opponents) won't run at all, but will get a Federal post of considerable importance to get him out of a contest in which New Deal leaders feel he could not win.

The construction of air fields, from which the RAF and USAAF carry on their round-the-clock bombing of Germany and Nazi occupied territories, is one of the biggest and most costly projects that has been carried out in Britain since the beginning of the war. The government has not disclosed the number of air fields in use, but in area they comprise 250,000 acres. Flying from London to Liverpool, one is never out of sight of an air field. The job of creating these air fields presented a staggering problem: the construction of concrete runways alone represented a task equal to rebuilding the main highways of the whole of England.

It takes more than a global war, apparently, to change some established buying habits of the American consumer. He sticks to his preferences determinedly, even if he has to wait 'til the shooting's over to buy what he wants. This is evident in the nation-wide survey just completed which indicates conclusively that while the beer can may be gone by not forgotten. Interviews with 10,000 families of all income groups in 50 cities showed that although it has been nearly two years since any beer was packaged in cans, except for the armed forces, 94 per cent of the total number buying canned beer for home consumption in 1941 still retain preference for the can.

Many of us have wondered, since anti-aircraft guns became a part of our everyday vocabulary, how it is possible to hit a plane going 200 miles an hour 20,000 feet up, when it takes the shell 15 seconds to get up there and in that time the plane has gone more than a mile. Besides, the shell curves in its flight, even if there were not the problem of the wind blowing it around and gravity pulling on it, or the additional problem of weather affecting its velocity. The answer is a mechanical brain which in split seconds solves the complex mathematical problem, after swiftly plotting the plane's height and

What They Say ---

RUFUS B. vonKLEINSMID, Pres. University of So. Calif.—"If we are to wait to develop good relationships with our neighbor countries until peace is signed, we shall lose half a generation in building a nation that goes away from war instead of toward it."

POLICEWOMAN KATHERINE SULLIVAN, S. F.—"The worst saboteurs are mothers who unnecessarily leave their homes to work, leaving children to shift for themselves, breaking up their homes and leaving nothing for the boys to come back to after the war."

WALTER H. ODEMAR, NSGW official, speaking for Native Sons—"We believe the WRA and Dillon Myer have proven their inability to administer Tule lake with its admitted antagonistic Jap population, and we fervently hope the U. S. Army will be returned again to control of the Center."

course. It's an electrical gun director developed in the Bell Telephone laboratories.

New products are planned for post-war production by 82.4 per cent of companies replying in a survey conducted by Financial World.

Porte Publishing company, publishers of a printing trades publication and catalog, early in the war got its salesmen to take wives along on trips; now the wives of drafted salesmen, having learned both the tricks of the trade and routes, are subbing for them.

Creation of a National Monument, by Presidential proclamation, in the Mt. San Jacinto and Mt. Gorgonio areas, will be vigorously opposed by the Southern Council of the California State Chamber of Commerce on the ground that these two areas are of great value for watershed and recreational purposes, and that establishment of the proposed monuments would lock up these areas permanently against any economic use.

THIS is what we've been working for all along. This is the year to hit and hurt the enemy. This is the time when everything you do counts double. If we all get together and do all we can, we'll be over this hurdle and well on our way to complete and crushing victory.

No question about the men in uniform—they'll go "all out." But can we count on you to back them all the way? Your quota is where you work—you've got to buy your War Bonds and then buy more, until every last loose cent you have is fighting. Tough? Of course, it's tough—unless it's a sacrifice you're simply not doing your share!

Make the sacrifice now—buy more than the extra $100 Bond your country counts on you for—winning the war is worth any sacrifice you make. Besides, you aren't giving, you're lending to America! You'll get back every dollar you invest in War Bonds, with interest. An extra $100 War Bond now is the minimum for everybody—can't we count on you for more?

This sticker in your window means you have bought 4th War Loan securities.

Let's All BACK THE ATTACK!

Local Guardsmen to March in Review at Exposition Park

The California State Guard units from Sierra Madre, Arcadia and Monrovia which make up Company C, 4th Battalion, 29th Regiment were united in company drill here last Wednesday night and were inspected by high ranking State Guard officers from headquarters at Los Angeles. The guardsmen were given high praise for their efficiency and the inspecting officers expressed the opinion that Company C would rank high in the report of U. S. Army officers when they inspect this organization within the next few weeks. All functions of the Guard will be displayed before the Army representatives, with particular emphasis given to interior guard duty, riot and mob control, and military bearing and appearance in precision drills and formations.

Maj. John S. Staats, commanding officer of the 4th battalion, C.S.G., was also present, and announced that all units of the Guard in this area would participate in a mobilization and review at the armory in Exposition Park in Los Angeles, on Sunday, February 6. Company C will enter the same platoon in close order drill competition that won first honors in competition with other companies of the 4th battalion at Tournament Park, Pasadena, last October. All units from the foothill area will be conveyed to Los Angeles in Army trucks, according to Maj. Staats.

Army Will Care for Soldiers' Families

Every soldier's family should know about Army Emergency Relief. If you are the wife, mother, or dependent of a soldier, and if you are in trouble, don't worry and wonder what to do; the Army announces it is taking care of its own.

It might be something as simple as filing an application for a family allowance, or it may be a serious emergency requiring financial assistance to meet food, rent, or hospital bills. In either case a Veteran of Foreign Wars Post service officer will give you a sympathetic hearing and use every facility to relieve your distress. He will assist you in preparing applications for Army Emergency Relief. Phone Service Officer J. W. Storm, at 6595.

CITY PARK IS PROPOSED AS RECREATION CENTER

on the tennis court might not be a partial answer to the youth problem, if indeed we have such a thing. I do not know if the surface will do for dancing, possibly part of it can be reurfaced. It has lights. I understand music can be had via radio and amplified. The tennis court has a high wire fence around it and admission can be controlled. An entrance charge, say of 10 cents, would take care of any expenses. Turn the kids loose in there and let them have their whoop and holler. They are going to go somewhere else and do it any way and it is better to do it here at home.

Perhaps we might stage a few vaudeville acts between dances. I see there is a platform in front of the park house. Put it in the court on a movable trestle. We have lots of good talent right here at home—musicians, vocalists, acrobatic dancers, tap dancers and the beautiful singing chorus the Junior Woman's Club presented in their show a few years ago.

Perhaps some of the various organizations would take over the entertainment on different nights—the Kiwanis, local Elks, Holy Name Society, Woman's Club, the P.T.A., the Masons and perhaps other organizations. We might work up to something really good, if we try. Put a few benches around inside so the older people can watch the youngsters dance, and enjoy the show. A police officer could be detailed to keep order and perhaps the P.T.A. and the Woman's Club could furnish martrons.

And while we are doing something for the older children, let's do something for the little kids. I noticed last summer on those hot days, quite a few mothers in the park with their small children. They were all trying to keep cool and it was pretty nice on the lovely green lawn under the shady trees. But the kids were having a hard time amusing themselves.

There is a fine cement pool there used now as a lily pond that would make the finest kind of a wading pool for kiddies. Why not clean it out, put in a couple of truck loads of beach sand so they won't slip, then put a few more loads around three sides of the pool and make an artificial beach about 10 feet wide so that youngsters could take their toy buckets and shovels and have a lot of fun and at the same time be under their mother's eye.

While we are at it, why not do the job up right and put in a couple of swings and teeterboards and maybe even a little merry-go-round. Paint the lunch-cum-tables and build a palm-leaf shade over them, as it is not much pleasure eating out in the hot sun in the summer time. Maybe the park house could be made into some sort of recreation hall.

Let the kids police themselves. Let them have a playground council, a playground mayor and four or five playground rangers to enforce their council's regulations. My observation has been that if kids are put on their honor and left pretty much to themselves, they govern themselves much better than we can.

It will cost a little money to do some of these things, but I understand that our finances are in splendid shape. Do you know of any better investment than your own kid's future? If it does cost a few hundred dollars and we salvaged only one kid, would it not be worth it?

Our city officials are all greatly interested in youth welfare and I am sure if we can present some sort of a practical plan, they will help put it over. Standing around on street corners yawning about it is not going to get us anywhere.

Haddock, secretary to the commanding officer of the 499th Air Base at San Bernardino, also enjoyed a visit over the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Farman and cousin John Bratt. Word has been received that Lieut. Jack Haddock is now "somewhere in England."

Thomas M. Schwartz, S 2/c, former Mayor of Sierra Madre, in a letter his wife received on Monday, said the snow was a foot deep and the air dry and snapping cold at Logan, Utah, where he has been transferred to Naval Training School. His new address is Company 24, N.T.S. (EE. & R.M.), Logan, Utah.

W. H. Steelman, W.T. 2/c U.S.N., visited with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Steelman here Saturday. He is lately from Australia and was on his way to Philadelphia for six weeks of special training in the Naval Boiler and Turbine Laboratory. He was joined by his wife who accompanied him to Philadelphia.

Warrant Officer, junior grade Robert E. Tambert, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Tambert, 289 E. Grandview ave., is completing his training at the pre-flight school of the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, where officers from all branches of the armed forces are receiving training to prepare them for aerial instruction. These student officers take their preflight instruction in grade but conform to the same rigorous schedules laid down for aviation cadets. At the end of a four and one-half-week course, the student officers will advance to the aerial classrooms of primary schools. Completion of flying training will bring assignment as officers in the Army Air Forces.

SAVE FATS TO SAVE AMERICAN
LIVES AND HASTEN VICTORY

If you knew how badly your Government needs the fat that you are throwing away, you would save every drop. Waste fats are vital in the manufacture of ammunition for the destruction of our enemy and in the creation of the new sulpha drugs which are saving the lives of thousands of our servicemen on the battlefields. Save your waste fats. Bring them in to our market and we will pay you 4c and 2 brown points for every single pound.

Brown Stamp "V" from Ration Book No. 3 is good from January 23 to Feb. 26, inc. Stamp "W" became valid Jan. 30, expiring on February 26th.
